About Robert Castaneda

TOLLING PROFESSIONAL: COMMENCEMENT YEAR 1987

KEY ROLES INCLUDE: HR, policy and procedure manual enhancements, cash to electronic tolling integration, new construction, facility upgrades, new facility startup, law enforcement collaboration, heavy and routine maintenance; all facilities, roadways, grass areas, storm water pumps and drainage, tunnels, auxiliary power assets, elevators, elevated walkways, lighting/illumination, utilities, deicing operations/readiness, incident management startup and support, procurement contracts, contractor performance and expectations to name a few.

CAREER HIGHLIGHT: 1998, Maintenance Manager. My role: Innovative initiative to lower, fix and forecast maintenance cost with a 10-year horizon. Research led to a Total Asset Maintenance Management (TAMM) contract where agency maintainable assets would be conducted by nonemployee industry professionals focusing on quality and efficiency. Preparations include breaking down all agency assets into 3 major categories: Tolling, Facilities and Roadways. Research suggested each category should utilize a TAMM contract onto itself, however our model leaned towards a single General Contractor setup with the remaining subcontractors reporting to the General Contractor. This lowered the number of agency employees required to assure compliance. Category scopes and performance expectations were detailed with material procurement models tailored to remedy agency needs. Within 2 years the TAMM contract was awarded including incident management, inclement weather preparation, catastrophe response and restoration, and deicing operations

Of the many TAMM contract innovations the most beneficial were: - timely responses to agency emergencies, better prepared forces, and equipment to restore normal operations. - Reduction in hundreds of individual purchase order agreements to only one. - crew rotations eliminated complacency. - top performers were highlighted, morale boosted, and competitive spirits kindled causing efficiency charts to spike. - Performance charts and empirical data allowed agency managers and contractors to collaborate weekly and set realistic goals and expectations. -Evaluated successes were identified and implemented as: "Repeatable Formulas" for coaching.

With minor modifications most of the fundamental innovations and creative components of the original TAMM contract still exist. Other agencies utilize modified versions of this format tailored to their specific needs.

The TAMM contract included CPIU renewal intervals achieving it's goal and exceeding expectations
